BIG CROWD AT THE REPUBLICAN RALLY

New Speakers Address
Meeting On Fort
Street

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN BY THOSE WHO WERE PRESENT

FRED. BECKLEY, ADVERTISED
AS CHAIRMAN OF HOME RULE MEETING, ADDRESSED
REPUBLICANS

Fred Beckley, advertised by the Home Rulers as the chairman of their rally held last Saturday night at Alakaea, was one of the principal speakers at the Republican meeting on Fort street near Hotel. The action of the Home Rulers in announcing him as their chairman he denounced as a piece of gall, as he said that he was not a Home Ruler and had not been for a long time. He was a Republican and was glad to be on the platform and speak in behalf of the Republican ticket.

The meeting of the Republicans Saturday night was a big one. There were in the neighborhood of a thousand people present to hear what the speakers had to say. The speakers were nearly all new ones and non-candidates, the candidates themselves taking the night off to rest up after their hard labors of the week.

The new speakers all made good and brought out many new points, which proved of much interest to the voters present.

The chairman of the meeting was A.
G. M. Robertson, Mr. Robertson stated in his opening address that the Republicans would not take issue with the Democrats on buncombe and name-calling. They didn't care to get down to that level. But they were ready to take issue with the Democrats on public issues.

"The Democrats say," said the chairman, "that they have the Republicans running. That's true enough. They have got the Republicans running, and they're running so fast that by the sixth of November the Democrats won't be able to see them for dust."

"The Democrats and the Advertiser have been trying to make the principal issue of the campaign the election of a sheriff. That is important enough, but it is not the most important office to be filled. The election of a Delegate to Congress and of Senators and legislators is even more important."

"In the fight on the ground made by the Advertiser and the Democrats the principal argument is but an imaginary one. They say Brown is running a machine. This is not true, and the Democrats have failed to find any machine. Brown stands on his record." "The Democrats are running laukae to bust what they call the machine. But it takes a stronger man than laukae to bust any machine. Has anyone ever run anything strong about laukae?
He is a very affable gentleman, but it takes a man of a stronger personality, more backbone and less affability than Curtis laukae possesses."

"McClanahan," said Robertson, "has been fortunate enough to tumble onto an issue to discuss, that of Cuban annexation, and he is making the most possible out of the bugaboo. But even if the question of Cuban annexation is an issue, what in the name of sense do you believe McClanahan could do to prevent the annexation of Cuba. He and his partner Kinney would be one very small drop in a very big bucket."

"Deacon Trent is a very good Deacon and of course everything he says must be true. He wants the voters to think that the Democrats have the Republicans beaten. But he ought to know that the Democratic party, as it is made up, couldn't beat anything. It is composed mostly of a few real Democrats and a lot of disgruntled Republicans. Laukae is a disgruntled Republican who became a Democrat because the Republican party wouldn't give him all he wanted. Charlie Broad, a man who took part in the last Republican primaries, jumped to the Democratic party because that convention wouldn't give him what he wanted. M.
A. Silva is a man who went to the Wa-luke convention and voted for the Republican platform. He was bound in

KANAI'S OLD VOTERS

Lihue, Kauai, Oct. 15.—It is not only the younger element which takes an interest in the coming election; some pretty old men turned up at the sittings of the Board of Registration in order to secure their right to throw their vote in November.

Maui has the oldest voter on Kauai.
Kahololiki, in spite of being 86 years, turned up bright and early to get his name on the register.

Hanapepe has for its patriarch Kapuki who is 84.

Lihue's oldest voter at the coming election will be Kuewa, who was born 75 years ago.

Kealia has no very old voter. Iola Aheua, who is 70, tops the list.

At Kilauea 79 years also marks the oldest registerer. Uma having reached this age.

A number of people over 70 registered at Hanalei. Kaheanani is 74 years but wants to vote just the same.
The oldest in the precinct is, however, Kawaakankahi, who at 81 years old, takes the third place on the register of old voters.

The increase in the number of voters registered on Kauai over the number at last election is 83. The majority of the new voters are Hawaiians, next come the Portuguese.

honor to support the Republican ticket.
And Joe Fern, that notorious traitor, was once a Republican, and in 1901 accepted the bribe of a nomination from the Civic Feds. Then he returned to the Republican party and promised to be good, but because the Republican convention held here last month, in which he took part, wouldn't give him all he asked for, he has again proclaimed himself a traitor and has accepted the bribe of a Democratic nomination.

"A ticket made up of such an unholy combination, such a mixture of oil and water, can't last until election day. The truth is that while the Democrats are claiming a complete victory, if they can succeed in electing two or three men, they will go off in a corner and congratulate themselves."

Kalaniana'ole, who was to have been the principal speaker at the meeting, did not get back from Hawaii. The first speaker introduced by Chairman Robertson was Senator John C. Lane.

Lane spoke of his proposed amendment to the leper bill and asked the support of the voters in getting it passed. He analyzed the Republican ticket, pointing out to the audience the good qualities of the men on it. His address was an exceptionally good one and was listened to with the closest attention.

"The Democratic policy of anything to beat Brown," said A. Lewis, Jr., "is a most fallacious doctrine. The man who will scratch is not a true Republican. The voters should be bound by the principle that the greatest good to the greatest number." Lewis referred to the County Act. The Democrats have been talking a lot about an iniquitous machine, but we have here a good machine. But it needs amendment, and it is the duty of the voters to return to the Legislature Republican candidates who shall extend the good of the Act and amend it as it should be amended.

Referring to the question of Cuban annexation, Lewis said that he failed to see what it has to do with the election, except as regards the choice of a Delegate to Congress. He asked the voters whether they thought they ought to send to Washington a man like Kuhio, who knows the ways of Congress and who has the support of the right party, or a man like Mc-Clanahan, who is not onto the ropes and who would be a member of the wrong party. It is the representatives of the northern and middle-western States who will oppose Cuban annexation, and they are the Republicans. It is the Republican party and not the Democratic which will benefit these islands on that question.

Lewis was heartily applauded when he topped.

"It is up to you voters," said Fred Beckley, to send good men to the Legislature to make the laws, and not the riff-raff of the country."

Beckley stated that at one time he was a Home Ruler, naturally so, as he was greatly opposed to the annexation of the islands to the United States. But that is in the past and he said that he realized now that annexation was the best thing for Hawaii. He is a Republican, but in spite of that, the Home Rulers, he said, had had the gall to advertise him as the chairman of their meeting. "I have been a Home Ruler," he said, "but I have come to the conclusion that it is the Republican party which best serves the interests of the country." Beckley made a hit by his statement that he believed the Home Rule party is in existence today for the benefit of the Republican party.

E. A. Douthitt told of the good work done by the Republican party, which accounts for its continued success. They talk about a Home Rule party, but the people really have Home rule now in the best sense of the word. The County Act passed by the Republican Legislature of 1905 gave the country true home rule, government for the people and by the people. "Are you going to turn down the men," asked the speaker, "who gave you that Act, that county government?"

Douthitt referred to the work accomplished by the Republican Board of Supervisors. They have given the county thirty-one miles of macadamized roads and have spent $250,000 on the roads. "You have broken away," he said, "from the robin's egg blue room.
When you had Territorial government, you had to wait about two years before you could get a five-cent piece. Now you get your money day by day and month by month. These things are done by the Republicans. What have the Democrats to offer you? What have they done? Did they pass the County Act? Absolutely not. But still there are Democrats who now crawl around on their knees and ask the suffrage of the American citizens."

John Wise followed Douthitt. He said the Democrats are always telling Frank Andrade reviewed the work done by the Republicans, the Home Rulers and the Democrats in the Legislature. The Republican ticket, he said, is filled with Republicans, not with disgruntled Democrats. The Democratic ticket is saturated with the disgruntled Republicans.

The last speaker of the evening was Bernard Keikolika, who made an address that was well received.

TOO MUCH DUST ON DIAMOND HEAD

Residents up Diamond Head way are of the opinion that they are getting more dust than there is any necessity for. Beyond the end of the car line the dust is very deep, and it is not the pleasantest thing in the world to attempt to wade through it. A little oil would go a long way toward improving conditions, and the people most interested want the Supervisors to help them out to this extent. They also want a sidewalk, so that they will not be in danger of being run down by automobiles when they are blinded by the dust. A petition from them was received by the Board of Supervisors at its meeting Thursday night, suggesting that it might be a good idea to oil the road or put on a top dressing of small rock or something to give pedestrians decent walking.

The last speaker of the evening was
dress that was well received.
